1. Message from the Executive Director

We began with the broad idea of using our time and effort to circulate the internal resources as well as facilitate donations from abroad to deliver in activities for underprivileged kids and women with the assistance from our partners. However, we soon saw the need for a more focused approach in our philanthropic work. Today's world has an endless number of compelling social issues, and without a concentrated effort, our impact would be diluted. We need a clear focus to get the most out of our resources to serve the needs, which are not addressed by other major stakeholders.

Over time, we realized that we could maximize our social impact by addressing the needs of children, women and youth. By helping the women and the younger generation, we would better the communities where they live and thus improve the future of their communities. From this epiphany came a clear mission: "Empowering underprivileged Cambodian children with the same opportunity as all people for a better future of themselves and their community", and in doing so, cultivate a spirit of philanthropy in the next generation.

We recognized the need for committed and able partners, locally and abroad, to help us carry out our work in an effective and sustainable manner -- partners whose familiarity with the needs, framework or whose specialized and technical expertise would give our projects a larger impact in the lives of their intended beneficiaries. Raksa Koma Organization was established in response to all these needs. We saw the Organization as a vehicle through which we could fund and partner with projects or organizations that shared our vision.

Today, we combine partnership with our backgrounds in education and health sector to help projects reach their goals. We have adopted best practices for project management, reporting and evaluation, as well as guidelines for financial accountability to further facilitate the success of each project.

We are thankful that our organization has had the opportunity to work with capable, committed donors, partners in education, health sector and beyond. Through these experiences, our original idea of sharing has developed into a deep conviction to contribute not only to our assets with those in need, but also our spirit of philanthropy, where it is a partnership of head and heart. We hope you join and share our mission and believe that every gift matters. Together, we can make a greater impact than if we stand alone.

Best wishes and regards,

Sok Vanseka
Executive Director

3. Clean Toilet Initiatives Project

❖ Snor Kley Primary School

In January 2025, Raksa Koma Organization (RKO) successfully built its first clean toilet initiatives project in Snor Kley primary school – Santuk district, Kompong Thom province – with ten new toilets including the facilities for children with disabilities. The construction was made possible thanks to generous donations of Autobahn VAG Co., Ltd and Shinhan Bank (Cambodia) Plc.

❖ Taing Krasaing High School

In early October 2025, the Organization was able to complete its second toilet construction project for Taing Krasaing high school – Santuk district, Kompong Thom province – with 6 new toilets including the facilities for a person with disabilities. The project was co-funded by Autobahn VAG Co., Ltd and Tri Dung Co., Ltd.

❖ Taing Krasaing Primary School

In late October 2025, the Organization finished the construction of its third toilet project in Taing Krasaing primary school – Santuk district, Kompong Thom province – with 8 new toilets including the facilities for children with disabilities. The project was funded by Shinhan Bank (Cambodia) Plc.

An architectural design for toilets can range from traditional to innovative, inclusive designs that provide individual, private toilet rooms with shared wash basins. The best part about the bathroom is spacious, light-filled facilities that include separate rooms for boys, girls, and students with disabilities. A small, carefully tended flower garden adds beauty to the area. The key design considerations include location (between building blocks), safety, sanitation, durability, and aesthetics, with trends leaning toward creating calm, clean, and secure environments.

The impact of the new facilities appears to have been swift with the school's records indicating that absenteeism has dropped since the facilities were built, particularly among the teenage girls who were most affected by the previous poor set-up. The facilities have become well-known across the commune that more children have requested to transfer to the school to access them. Students get sick less often – They study, play, and stay healthy. Students can pay attention in class and enjoy being at school. The facilities have not only improved hygiene but also instilled a sense of pride among the students.
